(Associated Press Special Service to the Star-Bulletin)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7. — Beaten on their home grounds, "crippled" by the injury of two men, fighting an uphill game before a hostile crowd, the New York Giants came back today and took the second game of the world's series by a score of 3 to 0, after ten innings of desperate baseball.

Christy Mathewson, the "Old Fox" of baseball and the man who has lost other world's series games by hard luck, was crowned king of the diamond at the finish of today's contest. The veteran was in grand form and it was predominantly his playing that made the victory of the Giants possible.

The game was delayed an hour and a half by rain. The condition of the playing field was partly responsible for the four errors, equally divided between the two teams. But the strain of the game was also responsible for the slips, and this strain fell hardest on Eddie Plank, the cunning southpaw of the Mackmen and Mack's choice to go against the Giants today. Giants were crippled.

The Giants went into the game crippled, for Merkle's ankle, strained in yesterday's game, did not permit his beginning the contest today, while catcher Jack Meyers, the clever Indian and hard hitter, injured his finger in practicing before the game. Larry McLean, picked up by Manager McGraw this year as a substitute catcher, went in in Meyers' place, and he in turn was succeeded by Wilson at a critical point.

Christy Mathewson's coolness was never shown better advantage. The Athletics had him in a tight pinch in the ninth inning, but he escaped by splendid pitching. Furthermore, it was Mathewson who drove the first run across in the tenth.

Captain Larry Doyle held his team together magnificently and it was largely his fighting spirit that drove the New Yorkers to victory in the tenth inning.

HOW THE CRISIS CAME

In the ninth inning, Outfielder Strunk of the Athletics singled and Shortstop Barry bunted safely, making first. Capt. Doyle then made a miscalculation, throwing wild to stop Barry, and both men advanced. With Strunk on third and Barry on second, Witte, who was substituting, fielded Lapp's grounder and threw to the plate like a shot, catching Strunk coming home. Witte also fielded Plank's grounder and Mathewson caught Barry with a quick throw before he could get in line for a score. Mathewson followed up his work by throwing Murphy out at first.

"THE BREAK"

The Athletics, with their rally checked, were disheartened, and when the "break" came in the tenth, they could not check the onslaughts of the Giants. In the first of the tenth McLean singled for New York, and Grant ran for him. Witte sacrificed Grant to second and then Mathewson singled, scoring Grant from second.

The score upset Eddie Plank and the veteran southpaw lost his speed and puzzling curves. Eddie Collins, the star second baseman, also wavered under the strain, and when Herzog gave him a hard grounder, he threw it wild. Mathewson going around to third and Herzog to second. Plank, growing wild, hit Capt. Doyle with a pitched ball and then Shortstop Fletcher singled, scoring Mathewson from third and Herzog from second. Plank finished by striking out Outfielder Burns and making

CARTER SAYS DELEGATE IS SLIGHTLY MIXED

News to ex-Governor That Kuhl Cancelled His Personal Appointment with Wilson

"Slightly mixed," is the phrase former Governor George R. Carter used this morning in referring to the statement made by Delegate Kuhl before the Merchants' Association to the effect that he had directed the president's secretary to cancel Carter's appointment with President Wilson.

"I think Kuhl is a very good person, but with an appointment made for the delegation to see the president, Will Cooke told me in New York later that the delegate had informed him that he had told the president's secretary to cancel the appointment. I never knew until then that Kuhl ever made an appointment, though I had asked him to, and if he cancelled it he did so without consulting us."

Carter said this morning that he was surprised when he was informed of the statement made by the delegate.

"I got the accounts of the speech I made here on my return," he said, "and read them carefully this morning to see if I had said anything which might have aroused the antagonism of Kuhl; but I found that I said nothing about him. There was nothing to say."

"When I went to Washington Kuhl was the first man I called on. I deemed that he was entitled to that courtesy because of the position he holds. Later I telephoned to him to be present at a meeting at which we planned to unite to oppose the sugar tariff plan. He was present at the meeting, and I congratulated myself that he was, because I learned that it was the first meeting of the kind he had attended. He did not show up at the others."

"Some time after this meeting I wished to make an appointment for the delegation to call on the president, and wrote to him to help me make the appointment; but I got no answer. The appointment was made, however, and later cancelled. It was at the time it was cancelled that I asked a personal interview with the president, which was granted, and the day set for it was the following Wednesday, as I left Washington I was informed by Will Cooke that he had been told by Kuhl that after the delegation's interview had been called

STEVEN GOES TO THE NATIONAL CAPITAL ON 'PERSONAL' BUSINESS

O. A. Steven will leave here for Washington Saturday, according to the statement he made yesterday. That he is summoned to Washington to state what he knows of L. E. Pinkham, whose confirmation as governor of the territory is hanging fire, is a subject of a rumor on the street now. Steven was engaged with Pinkham in the Philippines recruiting labor for the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association.

The following is all he would say this morning concerning his trip to Washington:

"I expect to leave here Saturday for Washington. I have been summoned there. What I will do there, or who has summoned me, I regard as my own personal business."

If the rumor is to be believed, what Steven will say concerning Pinkham will be in opposition to the latter's gubernatorial appointment.

In departing from Hilo, the schooner Melrose, it is reported, will proceed to Port Townsend for further business.

CUBAN SUGAR'S PREFERENTIAL NOT DROPPED

Alexander & Baldwin Receive Definite Statement Explaining Present Status

CONFIRMS INFORMATION IN THE STAR-BULLETIN

San Francisco Got Wrong Report, According to Explanation to Sugar Agency

Cuba's preferential of 20 per cent is not repealed. It remains in force and will not be repealed.

Such is the definite information that reached Alexander & Baldwin by mail yesterday from their San Francisco office, telegraphed there from their New York office. The information confirms the Star-Bulletin's statement of October 1 from its Washington correspondent, as well as explains the probable origin of the report that the preferential had been dropped.

The original report was published in the San Francisco papers, to the effect that the tariff conference had repealed Section 8 of the Cuban reciprocity treaty, which provided that Cuba should have a preferential rate of 20 per cent on sugar, and that the general sugar tariff of the United States should not be reduced below the figures of the Dingley tariff law of 1897.

The effect of the action would have been to make Cuba pay the same duty on her sugar imports as other foreign countries, instead of 20 per cent less. The New York office of Alexander & Baldwin, on inquiry from the San Francisco office, telegraphed as follows:

"Replying to your telegram regarding Cuban treaty. Provision section 8 only repealed. This clears up inconsistency in some where it refers to Dingley rates. New status does not repeat 20 per cent reduction on sugar. This provided for by section 2 of treaty. As new legislation changes one stipulation of treaty without giving year's notice as provided for in section 11, Cuba and the United States may have to pass between them diplomatic notes to cover situation. Cuba expected to acquiesce. Trade taking same for granted."

"There is no question whatever that the Cuban preferential will remain in force," it was stated this morning at Alexander & Baldwin's.

MACHINE GUN WORK ON OAHU HAS RESULTS

Organization May Be Changed Owing to Problems Worked Out Here Last Year

As the direct result of firing problems conducted in the Hawaiian department a year ago, for war strength machine gun companies, there is likely to be a revolution in the organization of the machine gun detachments of infantry and cavalry regiments.

Lieutenant F. P. Jackson, 2nd Infantry, last year worked out some entirely new problems, showing the efficiency of consolidated machine gun platoons in action, and it was predicted at that time that a move would probably be made to make larger organizations for each regiment. Now, according to recent dispatches from Washington, it is planned to make the machine gun outfit a separate company for each regiment, which will undoubtedly mean, say army officers here, an increase in strength as well. With the platoons of the 1st and 2nd Infantry, and the 5th Cavalry, combined, Lieutenant Jackson last year made some really wonderful records, firing at silhouette targets in platoon columns, and also guarding bridges and other positions in night firing, where the range had been previously determined.

Li-Col. Harry C. Hale, United States Army, acting chief of the division of militia affairs, has issued an important bulletin touching on the organization of machine gun platoons in regiments of the organized militia, and suggesting that the infantry regiments of militia create a thirteenth company, to be known as a machine gun company, in anticipation of the law governing such organizations in the regular army being changed so that the machine gun platoons of regular infantry regiments may be known as a thirteenth company, and given added strength.

It is possible that the experiments conducted at Schofield Barracks more than 12 months ago, may mean an addition to the national guard of Hawaii, in the near future, as well as

SHERIFF WILL DELAY IN HULA DANCE PERMIT

Kapahulu Citizens Wait on Jarrett and Make Additional Protest Against Permit

FURTHER INVESTIGATION NOW WILL BE INSTITUTED

Deputation Convinces Police Head That Resort May Not Come Within the Law

Sheriff Jarrett this morning promised a deputation of the Kapahulu Improvement Club that he would not grant a permit to Madame Pauahi for her hula exhibition at Kapiolani Park until he gave the matter further consideration.

At the same time the sheriff intimated that the bringing of an injunction suit to restrain him from issuing the permit would be welcome to him in affording an opportunity to have the question of the morality of Madame Pauahi's exhibitions tested in open court. A resident of Kapahulu had already told him, before the deputation appeared, that he would likely be enjoined from granting a permit. Showing the opinion of Deputy County Attorney Weaver lately published, he pointed out that the issuance of a permit was mandatory except for an "immoral" exhibition, according to that delinquency. Following a permit from the sheriff, the license for the show was for the treasurer to issue.

Jarrett stated that he had been waiting for action on the part of the improvement club, or residents of the district, since receiving the legal opinion mentioned, before granting the permit. When, later, it was told him that 50 residents quickly could be brought in to protest against the granting of the exhibition of the resort, he stated that the club deputation present was sufficient to induce him to make further investigation before deciding. It was suggested to him that the burden of proof of the morality of the exhibition might be thrown upon the applicant, by his promptly denying the permit and leaving her the relief of a writ of mandamus, but he appeared to prefer action by injunction on the part of the protesters.

SHORT AND UGLY WORD PASSED IN CIRCUIT COURT

Attorneys Thompson and Warren Clash in Rougier-Miller $53,000 Lawsuit

Today's hearing of Captain Frederick C. Miller's $53,000 damage suit against Father Emmanuel Rougier was featured by an exchange of the short, ugly word between their legal counsel. No blows were struck, however, a timely warning from the court checking the possibility of any physical demonstrations.

The clash arose between Attorney Warren, Father Rougier's counsel, and Attorney Thompson, representing Captain Miller, almost immediately after the morning's hearing began. It was due largely, Thompson asserts, to the courtroom's poor acoustics straining tempers already sorely tried by the tedium of a lengthy trial.

Attorney Thompson, seeking to get the correct statement of Father Rougier, who was on the witness stand, misquoted him and Attorney Thompson in turn was corrected by the court.

"I beg your pardon," Thompson avers, he remarked to the court. "Yes," retorted Warren, "and you knew in the first place what the witness said."

"You're a liar!" shouted Thompson. "Gentlemen, gentlemen! No such remarks," warned the court, and turning to the witness, added: "You will please speak louder so that opposing counsel can hear you plainly." While Attorney Warren's retort to Thompson's remark was obvious, no one other than himself knows whether he actually said it, but he at once resumed direct examination of the witness and the incident was closed.

MRS. SULZER NOT CALLED FOR DEFENSE

Nether New York Governor Nor Wife Appears—His Counsel Rests His Case

(Associated Press Cable)

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 8.—The defense of Governor William Sulzer, on trial before the impeachment court, was rested today without either Sulzer or his wife testifying, although it had been confidently predicted that his wife at least would be called. Numerous rumors are current as to the cause for her failure to appear.

Louis Sarskey, secretary of the state campaign, made an endeavor to shoulder the blame for the discrepancies in the campaign funds by testifying today that the governor signed the statement of campaign contributions without reading it over. A verdict next Tuesday is probable. Two days' summary by opposing counsel is allowed.

One hundred and twenty-five prisoners are also reported executed. The city was taken after a battle lasting four days, with heavy losses on both sides.

NUUANU VALLEY HARD HIT BY WATER RULING

Irrigation Notice by Caldwell Calls for Protest from A. L. Castle

John W. Caldwell, superintendent of public works, is publishing a notice today to residents of Nuuanu Valley in which they are forbidden to use the water for irrigation.

Already some feeling is being shown over the order. Among the first to come forward to brand this action of the superintendent as unnecessary is A. L. Castle, secretary of the Rapid Transit Company.

"All those holding water privileges supplied from the Nuuanu Valley system," says the notice, "are hereby notified that due to weather conditions and drought the visible supply of water in Nuuanu Valley is extremely low; and irrigation is strictly prohibited until further notice."

Castle questioned this morning whether or not the supply was low enough to justify such an order.

"This is enough in itself to show that the water department is mismanaged," said Castle. "The superintendent has on file at his office the offer of the Rapid Transit Company to give large quantities of water to the government free. The Hawaiian Electric Company has also offered to give its waste water to the territory."

It would cost the department practically nothing to take advantage of these offers, and the water which would be available then would be amply sufficient to supply all the needs of Nuuanu Valley.

"It is a great hardship on us."

The district included in Nuuanu valley is given by the superintendent as follows:

The Nuuanu valley gravity system includes Nuuanu valley, Alewa heights and Puunui down to and including the makai side of School street from Insane asylum road to Luso street; Punchbowl district, including Luso street from School to Luaniolo street; Luaniolo street from Luso to Victoria; Victoria from Luaniolo street to Thurston avenue; Thurston avenue from Victoria to Wilder avenue, and all the district north of Wilder avenue and west of Mikiiki street.

FOUR JAPANESE ARE DEPORTED ON MONGOLIA

Four Japanese, three of whom are women, declared to be undesirable, were deported by the steamer Mongolia this morning by order of Richard Halsey, inspector in charge of the U. S. immigration service here. Several of the Japanese, who it is also planned to deport on the same
